MEMORANDUM OPINION
DENYING LEAVE TO PROCEED IN FORMA PAUPERIS - THREE STRIKES

Plaintiff Maurice Erby, a prisoner incarcerated at Alger Maximum Correctional Facility, filed a complaint pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Plaintiff seeks leave to proceed in forma pauperis. Because Plaintiff has filed at least three lawsuits which were dismissed as frivolous or for failure to state a claim, he is barred from proceeding in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). The Court will order Plaintiff to pay the $250.00 civil action filing fee within thirty days of this opinion and accompanying order, and if Plaintiff fails to do so, the Court will order that his action be dismissed without prejudice. Even if the case is dismissed, Plaintiff will be responsible for payment of the $250.00 filing fee in accordance with In re Alea, 286 F3d 378, 380-81 (6th Cir. 2002).

Discussion

The Prison Litigation Reform Act ("PLRA"), Pub. L. No. 104-134, 110 Stat. 1321 (1996), which was enacted on April 26, 1996, amended the procedural rules governing a prisoner's request for the privilege of proceeding in forma pauperis. As the Sixth Circuit has stated, the PLRA was “aimed at the skyrocketing numbers of claims filed by prisoners—many of which are meritless—and the corresponding burden those filings have placed on the federal courts.” Hampton v. Hobbs, 106 F.3d 1281, 1286 (6th Cir. 1997). For that reason, Congress put into place economic incentives to prompt a prisoner to “stop and think” before filing a complaint. Id. For example, a prisoner is liable for the civil action filing fee, and if the prisoner qualifies to proceed in forma pauperis, the prisoner may pay the fee through partial payments as outlined in 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b). The constitutionality of the fee requirements of the PLRA has been upheld by the Sixth Circuit. Id. at 1288.

In addition, another provision reinforces the “stop and think” aspect of the PLRA by preventing a prisoner from proceeding in forma pauperis when the prisoner repeatedly files meritless lawsuits. Known as the “three-strikes” rule, the provision states:

In no event shall a prisoner bring a civil action or appeal a judgment in a civil action or proceeding under [the section governing proceedings in forma pauperis] if the prisoner has, on 3 or more prior occasions, while incarcerated or detained in any facility, brought an action or appeal in a court of the United States that was dismissed on the grounds that it is frivolous, malicious, or fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury.

28 U.S.C. § 1915(g). The statutory restriction “[i]n no event,” found in § 1915(g), is express and unequivocal. The statute does allow an exception for a prisoner who is “under imminent danger of serious physical injury.” The Sixth Circuit has upheld the constitutionality of the “three-strikes” rule against arguments that it violates equal protection, the right of access to the courts, and due process, and that it constitutes a bill of attainder and is ex post facto legislation. Wilson v. Yaklich, 148 F.3d

596, 604-606 (6th Cir.1998); accord Rodriguez v. Cook, 169 F.3d 1176, 1178-82 (9th Cir. 1999); Rivera v. Allin, 144 F.3d 719, 723-26 (11th Cir. 1998); Carson v. Johnson, 112 F.3d 818, 821-22 (5th Cir. 1997).

Plaintiff has been an active litigant in the federal courts in Michigan. The Court has dismissed three of Plaintiff's actions as frivolous or for failure to state a claim. See Erby v. Wolever, No. 1:01-cv-432 (W.D. Mich. Aug. 1, 2001); Erby v. MDOC, No. 1:03-cv-49 (W.D. Mich. March 10, 2003); Erby v. Kula, No. 5:04-cv-53 (W.D. Mich. May 10, 2004). The Court also previously has denied leave to proceed in forma pauperis on the basis of the three-strikes rule. See Erby v. Kula, No. 1:05-cv-171 (W.D. Mich. April 18, 2005).

Moreover, Plaintiff's allegations do not fall within the exception to the three strikes rule because he does not allege any facts establishing that he is under imminent danger of serious physical injury. Although Plaintiff named in the caption of his complaint a corrections officer at his present place of confinement, Alger Maximum Correctional Facility, his complaint contains no allegations against that officer (Defendant Murth) or about any present imminent danger. Instead, Plaintiff merely reargues allegations concerning an alleged assault by Defendant Kula that occurred on July 29, 2002, while Plaintiff was housed at the Ionia Maximum Correctional Facility. The allegations previously have been the subject of two prior actions filed by Plaintiff. See Erby v. Kula, No. 5:04-cv-53 (W.D. Mich.); Erby v. Kula, No. 1:05-cv-171 (W.D. Mich.). A prisoner's allegation that he faced imminent danger or was assaulted sometime in the past is insufficient basis to allow him to proceed in forma pauperis pursuant to imminent danger exception to the three strikes provision. Abdul-Akbar v. McKelvie, 239 F.3d 307, 310-11 (3d Cir. 2001); Medberry v. Butler, 185 F.3d 1189, 1192 (11th Cir. 1999); Ashley v. Dilworth, 147 F.3d 715, 717 (8th Cir. 1998); Luedke v.

Bertand, 32 F. Supp. 2d 1074, 1077 (E.D. Wis. 1999). This is particularly true where, as here, Plaintiff's allegations pertain to events that occurred at a facility other than his current place of incarceration. See Day v. Maynard, 200 F.3d 665, 667 (10th Cir. 1999).

In light of the foregoing, § 1915(g) prohibits Plaintiff from proceeding in forma pauperis in this action. Plaintiff has thirty days from the date of entry of this order to pay the entire civil action filing fee, which is $250.00. When Plaintiff pays his filing fee, the Court will screen his complaint as required by 28 U.S.C. § 1915A and 42 U.S.C. § 1997e(c). If Plaintiff fails to pay the filing fee within the thirty-day period, his case will be dismissed without prejudice, but he will continue to be responsible for payment of the $250.00 filing fee.
